BACKGROUND:

We all have a teacher who has had a profound impact on our lives; a teacher who has encouraged us to take that extra step or go that extra mile, to succeed in confidence and strive for everything. Out of 9,000 teachers in Prince George’s County public schools, one will be named 2010 Prince George’s County Teacher of the Year during an annual reception dedicated to honoring the educators of PGCPS.

Twenty-seven teacher nominees will be on hand, along with their colleagues, friends, and families, as they are all lauded for their work as outstanding educators and paid homage for their dedication and hard work.

Organized by the Maryland State Department of Education (MSDE), the Maryland Teacher of the Year program recognizes the work being done by the state’s outstanding teachers. Drawing from a pool of nominees representing each county, one individual teacher is selected for the honor of representing Maryland in the National Teacher of the Year competition.
