Dear Colleagues,

In 2016, the Student Safety Task Force, in accordance with Education Article 6-113.1 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, worked with representatives from schools, central office and labor partners to develop an Employee Code of Conduct.

The Employee Code of Conduct addresses conduct expectations for the work environment with students, colleagues, parents/guardians; and in the community. In addition, the Code of Conduct provides guidance for addressing progressive discipline when employee conduct matters need to be addressed.

Prince George's County Public Schools (PGCPS) is committed to operating in a manner that builds upon our core values of ensuring our students are a priority and can achieve at high academic levels; that families, students and educators share the responsibility for student success; and that high expectations inspire high performance.

All PGCPS staff share the responsibility for a safe and supportive school environment contributing to excellence in education. The support of everyone in our community is essential to the success of our schools and students, and this success enriches our community. Continuous improvement in teaching, leadership and accountability is the key to our destiny.

Please take time to review the document. If you have questions, please do not hesitate to contact your labor partner (union) or the Chief of Human Resources at chro@pgcps.org. I am confident that clearer expectations for behavior and conduct will continue to elevate PGCPS to the premier school system we know we can become.

We look forward to our work together. #PGCPS Proud

Sincerely,

Monica E. Goldson, Ed.D.
Interim Chief Executive Officer

Introduction

Prince George's County Public Schools (PGCPS) is committed to operating in a manner that builds upon our core values: Students are our priority and all students can achieve at high academic levels; Families, students and educators share the responsibility for student success; High expectations inspire high performance; All staff share the responsibility for a safe and supportive school environment contributing to excellence in education; The support of everyone in our community is essential to the success of our schools and students, and this success enriches our community; and Continuous improvement in teaching, leadership and accountability is the key to our destiny.

The Employee Code of Conduct offers a summary of the expectations and standards of conduct that PGCPS expects of employees. In addition, this Code of Conduct provides the disciplinary steps that PGCPS utilizes to address employees' inappropriate behavior or failure to meet our expectations and/or standards of conduct.

The Employee Code of Conduct applies to all PGCPS employees, both certificated and non-certificated, full- and part-time, as well as substitutes and temporary employees. Many aspects of the Code of Conduct are based on pertinent Board of Education policies, PGCPS administrative procedures, and negotiated agreements, as well as state and federal laws and regulations. The Employee Code of Conduct is not intended to replace these resources, but rather to provide a one document summary and reference point of employee expectations and standards of conduct that would be beneficial to all employees.

This Code of Conduct is not a contract, nor does it replace or supersede any Board of Education policy or PGCPS administrative procedure. The Board of Education and the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) reserve the right to modify or amend any Board of Education policy or administrative procedure at any time. If there is any inconsistency between the contents of the Employee Code of Conduct and any Board of Education policy and/or administrative procedure, the Board policy and/or administrative procedure will govern.

Administration of the Employee Code of Conduct

The Employee Code of Conduct provides the framework for the legal and system requirements that govern the expectations regarding PGCPs employee conduct. These requirements include but are not limited to the following:

1. Education Article of the Annotated Code of Maryland and the Code of Maryland Regulations (COMAR) and Other Federal and State Laws

The Education Article and COMAR establish the expectations for teachers, principals, assistant principals and other public school positions, which require a professional certificate from the Maryland Department of Education (MSDE) and provide standards for suspension and dismissal when those certificated employee fail to adhere to the expectations. (Section 6-202 of the Education Article of the Annotated Code of Maryland – certificated employees may be suspended or dismissed for one or more of five different reasons: immorality; misconduct in office, including a knowing failure to report suspected child abuse and neglect in violation of Section 5-704 of the Family Law Article of the Annotated Code of Maryland; insubordination; incompetence; and willful neglect of duty.)

If school vehicle drivers and attendants do not adhere to the required expectations, state law disqualifies them from driving and/or employment. (COMAR 13A.06.07.07 – school vehicle drivers and COMAR 13A.06.07.08 – school vehicle attendants)

Additionally, numerous federal and state laws set forth expectations for all public school employees in terms of the security of another's person, property, or reputation; financial and program accountability; reporting child abuse and neglect; confidentiality of student and personnel records; and civil rights and nondiscrimination.

2. Negotiated Collective Bargaining Agreements

Prince George's County Public Schools (PGCPS) has negotiated agreements with the following associations:

- Prince George's County Educators' Association (PGCEA Unit I)
- Association of Supervisory and Administrative School Personnel (ASASP Unit II)
- Association of Supervisory and Administrative School Personnel (ASASP Unit III)
- Association of Classified Employees, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (ACE-AFSCME), AFL-CIO Local 2250
- Service Employees International Union SEIU Local 400 PG, CTW-CLC

These negotiated agreements set forth expectations regarding employee conduct, employee due process rights and provisions that recognize that PGCPs may discipline employees for cause. This requirement demonstrates that employees should meet the expected standards of behavior, and failure to do so may constitute cause for employee discipline or dismissal.

3. Board of Education Policies and PGCPs Administrative Procedures

PGCPs policies and administrative procedures establish the standards and create expectations for employee behavior in a wide variety of areas, including but not limited to: interactions with students, reporting suspected child abuse and neglect, fiscal responsibility, ethical and moral standards, confidentiality, nondiscrimination, etc.

It is the responsibility of all PGCPs employees to demonstrate behavior that meets the expectations of federal and state laws and regulations, negotiated collective bargaining agreements, and PGCPs policies and administrative procedures. Failure to meet these expectations may result in the use of employee discipline provisions under the collective bargaining agreements, or for certificated employees, the suspension and discharge procedures under Section 6-202 of the Education Article of the Annotated Code of Maryland as appropriate under the circumstances. In some situations, more than one system that governs employees' expectations may be appropriate.

Such actions are initiated and determined on a case-by-case basis by PGcps, subject to grievance and appeal procedures provided by the law, Board of Education policies, PGcps administrative procedures, and the negotiated collective bargaining agreements.

Expectations for Employee Conduct

PGcps expects all employees to perform their work with the necessary skill and knowledge; maintain the highest standards of responsible and ethical conduct; and obey all applicable laws, regulations, policies and procedures. Under no circumstance may any employee engage in any of the following activities:

- Immorality
- Misconduct in office (which includes knowingly failing to report suspected child abuse or neglect)
- Insubordination
- Incompetence
- Willful neglect of duty

Whenever employees face a matter that requires a decision concerning their behavior, PGcps expects them to consider whether it might violate law, regulation, policy or administrative procedure. Just as important, employees should not engage in any action or conduct that threatens the safety of students, fellow employees, or the broader community; undermines the employee's professional integrity; and/or makes them unfit to perform their assigned duties.

The following pages provide specific examples of the behavior that PGcps expects from all of its employees, as well as inappropriate or disruptive behavior that warrants correction or discipline. An employee's failure to perform expected behaviors, as well as an employee's performance of inappropriate behaviors (including but not limited to the items listed on the following pages), may result in the employee receiving disciplinary action, up to and including suspension or termination.

Employees should understand that not all inappropriate or unethical conduct may be specifically referenced in this document. The examples on the following pages are illustrative but yet non-exhaustive. Inappropriate conduct that is not listed, however, may warrant disciplinary action. Please note that the standards for employee conduct set forth in the Employee Code of Conduct also apply to e-mail, social media, text messages, message apps, and other electronic communications.

Expected Conduct in the Work Environment

All persons employed by the Prince George's County Public Schools including members of the Board of Education are expected to behave honestly; diligently fulfill their job responsibilities; adhere to all federal and state laws and regulations, PGcps policies and procedures, and ethical standards governing their work; and comply with laws and regulations and PGcps policies and procedures outside of work, where failure to do so affects their fitness to perform their job.

Progressive Discipline

PGCPS is committed to fair, impartial and consistent treatment of employees in the disciplinary process.

1. Nondisciplinary Corrective Actions

In some circumstances, a supervisor may determine that a formal disciplinary action is not needed; however, the employee's behavior requires that the supervisor explain and clarify the expectations for future behavior. In these circumstances, the supervisor may first discuss with the employee the expectations followed up with a written Letter of Professional Counsel, which describes the expectations about the employee's future conduct. The focus is on ensuring that the employee understands the expectations.

2. Disciplinary Actions

Typical disciplinary actions include the following:

- Written reprimand
- Suspension
- Termination

PGCPS is not obligated to use any specific level of progressive discipline or to use the disciplinary actions in the order listed above. Progressive discipline is a flexible process. The particular facts of each situation determine which of the above actions will be appropriate.

In determining the specific level of discipline for each case, the following considerations may be weighed:

- The number of different offenses involved
- The seriousness of the offense and the evidence available
- Time between prior disciplinary actions, if applicable
- Prior work history of the employee
- Performance evaluations
- Mitigating factors

Lack of knowledge of the Employee Code of Conduct or applicable policies and procedures is not a defense to a charge of misconduct.

Except for serious violations, generally the lowest appropriate level of disciplinary action should be utilized and then progress to a more severe level after a less severe disciplinary action has been applied and proven to be ineffective.

However, a more serious violation may warrant suspension or termination, even for a first-time offense, or repeated offenses, depending on the situation. This could also happen when the infraction violates a standard of conduct that is not expressly referenced in this publication but involves common-sense application of governing principles or criminal law.

3. Process for Cases Involving Suspected Child Abuse and Other Criminal Activity

In any case in which an employee suspects a PGCPS employee of child abuse, child sexual abuse, or neglect of a child or vulnerable adult, an oral report must be made as soon as possible to Child Protective Services (CPS) at the Prince George's County Department of Social Services.

Within 48 hours after the individual developed a suspicion that a child or vulnerable adult had been subjected to child abuse, child sexual abuse or neglect, a written report must be filed with CPS and a copy of the report must be sent to the State's Attorney for Prince George's County. Additionally, employees should notify their supervisor or appropriate administrator.

The supervisor or administrator should enter a case into the Employee Incident Tracking System (EITS) and include the copy of the report sent to CPS, any written statements obtained, video footage if available, and any other information that could be pertinent for Security Services and ELRO to adequately review the incident.

In cases of child abuse, child sexual abuse and neglect allegations in which CPS is investigating, the Department of Security Services in consultation with ELRO also will conduct an investigation. An investigation by the Department of Security Services will be conducted for matters involving criminal investigations by a law enforcement agency.

In every case of alleged child abuse, child sexual abuse and neglect the Department of Security Services and the ELRO will conduct an internal investigation consistent with all applicable Board of Education policies and PGCPS administrative procedures and recommend appropriate discipline.

An investigation will be conducted even when CPS or the Prince George's County Police Department (PGCPD) screens out or closes the cases without taking action and/or the State's Attorney for Prince George's County declines to bring criminal charges because such cases may involve violations of Board policies, PGCPS administrative procedures, negotiated agreements, and/or other guidance.

While any investigations by CPS, PGCPD or another external agency is pending, PGCPS may not interview witnesses, alleged victims or alleged perpetrators. In addition, PGCPS must conduct all internal investigations in a manner that is fully cooperative with the external agencies that are investigating and that does not interfere with or jeopardize the external investigation.

Other critical incidents involving suspected criminal activity, such as drug distribution or use of weapons on PGCPS property, require reporting to law enforcement agencies. In cases of criminal activity, the Department of Security Services and ELRO may conduct an internal investigation in a manner that is fully cooperative with law enforcement agencies that are investigating and that does not interfere with or jeopardize the external investigation.

4. Administrative Leave or Temporary Placement

Any suspicion of inappropriate behavior by an employee may be reason for placing the employee on administrative leave or temporary placement, pending the investigation into the allegations. Cases are reviewed on an individual basis, and generally a recommendation for administrative leave will be made when the allegation involves a physical altercation, similar incident of a serious nature, pending criminal charge, an allegation of a sexual or discriminatory nature, or incident that causes concern for the safety of students, coworkers, and/or other individuals.

When a request for administrative leave or temporary placement is approved, the ELRO will notify the affected employee via official correspondence. This correspondence will instruct the employee accordingly, including refraining from being on PGCPS property while on administrative leave, and detailing the administrative process followed by the ELRO.

While on administrative leave or temporary placement, instructional staff will be required to continue with lesson planning, entering grades into SchoolMax, and/or assisting in the alternative work location, as appropriate.
