Meet Adrin Leak, 2021 Teacher of the Year!

We are proud to introduce 2021-2022 Teacher of the Year, DuVal High School 10th grade English Language Arts teacher Adrin Leak! A 12-year PGCPS educator, Mrs. Leak's mission is to close the educational opportunity gap for all students. During her tenure at DuVal, Leak is described as "radiating a passion and zest for learning, building a sense of community, and serving as a stellar example of a master teacher to colleagues.

Congratulations to runner-up, Capitol Heights Elementary School second grade Talented and Gifted teacher Bridget McCoy and second place winner Dr. Mable Smith, eighth-grade Reading & English Language Arts Teacher at Samuel Ogle Middle School.

Cicada History & Teachable Moment

With cicadas currently the literal buzz, check out this artistic rendition of the insect drawn 34 years ago by former PGCPSP employee Patricia Walters!

Are you using this year's cicada event as a teachable moment? If so, this picture might help capture a child's attention. With its smile and 'bug boots & gloves,' the insect in the picture signals its innocence and approachability. There's nothing to fear and much to appreciate about this longest lived of any insect. It's waited 17 years to make an entrance!

Nominate a colleague who makes you #PGCPSProud by sending their name, office/school, photo and a brief description (100 words or less) to communications@pgcps.org. Submissions may be edited for length, clarity or grammar.

Paid Professional Learning Opportunities Available for School Staff

Schools play a significant role in supporting the health and well-being of children and youth, including those affected by traumatic experiences. These sessions are specially designed to educate school staff about trauma and trauma-sensitive practices.

Educators will have the option of attending one or both workshops.

- Understanding Trauma and Its Impact includes information about the prevalence of trauma, its impact on children and youth, and implications for schools.
- Building Trauma-Sensitive Schools introduces all school staff to the concept of trauma-sensitive schools, why it is important to adopt a trauma-sensitive approach and trauma-sensitive practices for use in the classroom and school wide.

Participants will have access to an online module, downloadable handouts, and participate in a facilitated group session. Please take this brief survey to help you decide which workshop is the best fit for you. Registration is open in MyPPS using the course titles.
