FAQ’S

How often does it operate?
Distributions take place once a month.

How much will it cost me?
The food is free! We provide the space, time, and energy, and we’ll do the rest.

What’s in the market?
We provide both perishable and non-perishable food items. Items like canned corn and tomatoes!

Who manages it?
The school! With the help of an enthusiastic, passionate site coordinator.

What data do we collect? We’ll need:
- The number of households served
- The number of adults and children in each household
- The number of students that attend the school. That’s it!
- This information is collected by the site coordinator and returned to us.

Why do this?
A school-based pantry provides a unique solution to the problem of food insecurity by providing access to supplemental food for all family members in the child’s household.

The Need
In Montgomery County, ranked 10th in the nation in terms of median household income, 8 percent of all residents, including 17 percent of children, are at risk of hunger. In Prince George’s County 11.4 percent of children (23,810 out of 208,106 children) have food insecurity (USDA 2010 via Feeding America).

Goal
The goal of Family Market program is to help alleviate hunger throughout the Capital Area Food Bank service area through the provision of healthy and nutritious food to children and their families at school.

Operations
The Family Markets are located on the grounds of a school intended to provide a readily accessible source of food assistance to students and their families. Sites are normally in the same location as the school’s campus and have set distribution schedules. One Family Market site operating in MD in 2012-2013 served over 100,000 lbs. of food to their community.

The Food
The CAFB Family Market Program currently serves 70% donated product including donated produce. Some commonly occurring items include canned vegetables, canned meats, canned fruit, breakfast items, canned beans, and condiments.

The Distribution
CAFB provides non perishable and fresh produce items free of charge to Family Market sites. Common menu items include canned vegetables, canned meats, canned fruit, breakfast items, canned beans, condiments etc. The food is distributed “market style”, meaning food is set out on display for individuals to choose the items they’d want. Sites are not required to have a permanent pantry, only enough space and time to distribute.
